NEVADA CITY NUGGET

Twenty-Third Year, No. 45 Nevada City (Nevada County) California, Friday, November 3, 1950

2 LOCAL RACES FEATURE QUIET ELECTION YEAR

Nevada City electors have only one local contest to interest them in Tuesday's general election that state-wide carries three races of importance and eleven constitutional amendments. Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

William Shipley and Joe Tredennick are candidates for the post of constable of the Nevada judicial township.

Principal interest in the county is the race between Ed J. Kohler, North San Juan, and Guy N. Robinson, Indian Springs, for the office of supervisor, fourth district, which covers the extreme western end of the county. Both men are seeking the post left vacant by the late Warren Odell, chairman of the board, who last spring decided not to run for re-election. Odell died Sept. 10 in the Miners hospital.

All other county and township races were decided in the primary election June 6 and they will not appear on the ballot.

State races are:

Governor

Earl Warren, Republican, incumbent; James Roosevelt, Democrat.

Lieutenant-Governor

Goodwin J. Knight, incumbent, unopposed.

Secretary of State

Frank M. Jordon, incumbent, Republican and Democrat; George Walsh, Independent Progressive.

Controller

Thomas H. Kuchel, incumbent, Republican and Democrat; Alia T. Washington, Independent Progressive; Virgil G. Hinshaw, Prohibition.

Treasurer

Charles G. Johnson, incumbent, Republican and Democrat; Reuben W. Borough, Independent Progressive.

Attorney General

Edward S. Shattuck, Republican; Edmund G. Brown, Democrat; Claude A. Watson, Prohibition.

Board of Equalization

Jerrold L. Sewell, incumbent, unopposed.

U. S. Senator

Richard Nixon, Republican; Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas, Democrat.

Congressman

Clair Engle, incumbent, unopposed.

Assemblyman

Francis C. Lindsay, incumbent, unopposed.

Supreme Court Chief Justice

Phil S. Gibson.

Associate Justices

Homer R. Spence, Roger J. Traynor, B. F. Van Dyke.

Measures being submitted to the voters are:

No. 1 Prohibits state and its political subdivisions from imposing taxes upon personal property, tangible or intangible.

No. 2. Prohibits submission to electors of any constitutional amendment or law, which names any individual to hold office.

No. 3. Establishes uniform system of municipal and justice courts throughout the state. Directs that there shall be only one kind of court in a district.

No. 4. Permits electors who move from one California county to another within 90 days prior to an election, to vote in former county.

No. 5. Permits members of the legislature to hold office on commissions or boards.

No. 6. Permits wagering and gambling in licensed establishments.

No. 7. Provides that no blind person shall be denied admission from chiropractic license because of such blindness.

No. 8. Repeals prohibition of increase of salary of any elected official during his current term of office.

No. 9. Exempts from state civil service employees on part time basis.

No. 10. Requires approval of local electors as prerequisite of low-rent housing projects.

No. 11. Provides method of withdrawing land from registry.

PAGEANT GAINS HIT RATING IN GOLD FESTIVAL

Accolades galore were heaped this week upon the principals and participants of the Gold Quartz Centennial pageant "Birth of a Golden Empire" which showed to a packed house Saturday epening in the Veterans Memorial building, Grass Valley, in the face of competition from four major social events, and a rain-splattered night.

The rich English accent of Hugh Brown, Grass Valley, fitted in finely as narrator of the pageant, produced by the tireless and critical Douglas Conway, Nevada City school teacher. Al Trivelpiece, Nevada City newspaperman, modestly accepted the congratulations of hundreds of spectators, for a script that made the tasks of production and participation much easier.

Mrs. Anne Whiting was stage manager. John Cron was in charge of the music and Mrs. Rosetta Johns, Mrs. Dorothy Kitts and Mrs. Lrene Eldridge were accompanists.

Robert Thompson and James Underwood of Nevada City, Nelson Tennis and James Holman of Grass Valley were the pantominists who portrayed George McKnight's accidental discovery of gold rock ore one hundred years agothe act that was the basis for the centennial celebration.

The Gold Miners Chorus, directed by Emory Ford, and dancing by the Nuggeteers formed interludes for the pageantry of the century of Nevada county.

Against a backdrop that featured the great seal of the state, students of the Starlet School of Dance formed tableaus pertinent to the pantomime in front and center. Among them were: Nancy Polglase, Peggy Woan, Indians; Beverly Warren, Spanish; Nina Moran, Chinese; Beverly Jesse, Russian; Bobbie White, Lola Montez; Pat Minus, Lotta Crabtree.

The drill team of Manzanita Parlor No. 29, Native Dauhters of the Golden West, performed intricate group marching maneuvers.

Mrs. Mary Powell, Grass Valley, and William Tobiassen, Nevada City, portrayed two famous singers who came from Nevada county—Emma Nevada and Richard Jose.

Winding up the show was a parade of fashions from 1850 to 1950, modeled by members of the Beta Sima Phi sorority, with Mrs. Evelyn Miller, Grass Valley, as commentator. The 1950 fashion models featured gowns of red, white and blue, to set the stage for the finale of "God Bless America," and "The Star Spangled Banner."

STRING ENSEMBLE TO ENTERTAIN HISTORIANS

The string ensemble of Franc Luschen, Nevada City, will entertain the Monday evening gathering of the Nevada County Historical Society at the local elementary school, according to Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger, president. The group will gather at 7:30 o'clock.

Additional entertainment will be furnished by Bill Tobiassen, and folk dancing by the Nuggeteers.

Major business on the agenda, is the naming of a nominating committee, Mrs. Hefelfinger said.

650 TAKE XRAY EXAMS

The mobile X-ray unit of the California Tuberculosis association gave 650 examinations here Wednesday and yesterday, according to Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger who supervised the local stop-over of the unit.

Today the unit will be in North San Juan from noon until 6 p.m. with Miss Vivien Berggren, rural school nurse, in charge.

CITY STARTS LEGAL ACTION TO COLLECT OVERDUE WATER BILLS

City Attorney John Larue last night was authorized to start action to collect $3,259 in uncollected water bills here—many of them covering periods of a year or more.

The authorization was given unanimously by the city council after a brief discussion of the problem.

The collection order was the top item on a city council agenda which otherwise included minor matters.

The council took no action on a complaint by H. K. Fox, of 108 Grove street, who urged passage of an ordinance under which barking dogs could be silenced.

City Attorney Larue was asked by Mayor Thomas Taylor to review noise ordinances of other cities with a view toward framing an effective measure for local use.

NID TAX BILLS MAILED TO 4,000 LAND OWNERS

Nevada Irrigation District tax statements amounting to $175,490 have been mailed to 4,000 property owners and agents, according to Elton Tobiassen, assessor and tax collector.

Total land valuation of the district is $3,914,327.50, an increase of $114,000 over last year's valuation, Tobiassen said.

Of this total, Nevada county has $2,377,675 and Placer county $1,536,702.50.

First installment of NID taxes became due Wednesday and will be delinquent Dec. 25.

Second installment will become delinquent June 25, 1951.

LOCAL VETERANS HALL CONSTRUCTION MAY BE DELAYED BY RULING

Construction of the Nevada City veterans building is expected to be delayed indefinitely in view of the federal ban on construction of amusement and recreational structures issued last week by the National Production Authority

This opinion was expressed Wednesday by George Sellon, of Sacramento, architect and designer of the proposed building, in a telephone call to Ralph Deeble, county clerk.

Henry Loehr, board chairman, said at Wednesday's meeting of the supervisors, that although it is probable construction of the building will be held up until the ban is lifted, completion of the armory and construction of the proposed county juvenile detention home will not be delayed.

The board accepted title to the furniture in the Grass Valley Memorial building granted by the local post of the American Legion.

J. F. O'Connor, road commissioner, was authorized to proceed with construction of new bridge across Greenhorn creek in the Red Dog area.

The board appointed a committee to canvass absentee ballots of the general election on Nov. 14.

The board adjourned until Monday, Nov. 13, when the supervisors will canvass regular ballots cast at the general election.

MRS. WARNECKE WINS GOLD BRICK GUESSING

Mrs. Mary Warnecke, who teaches the third graders of Nevada City elementary school how to calculate their sums, apparently knows her business. At least she was able to calculate the value of the gold brick displayed in the J. C. Penney window, Grass Valley, within $31.

Mrs. Warnecks estimated the value of the gold brick that was a feature of the Quartz Centennial over the weekend, at $11,686. She was $30.88 shy of the actual value of the $11,716.88 gold brick which was cast by the Idaho-Maryland mine. George W. Hallock, leading mining man of California, was chairman of the committee in charge of the gold-guessing contest, and did not know himself what the value of the brick was until he inquired from the mine after the contest closed.

Mrs. Warnecke did not receive the gold brick as prize—first award was $20, and we neglected to ask Hallock if the award was in real or printing press money.

Second winner was J. J. Seck of Route 1, Box 444-F, Grass Valley. He guessed $11,760 and won $10.

The third prize of $5 went to Freda Crocker, Box 418, Grass Valley, for a guess of $11,830.

MILLION DOLLAR TAX BILL FOR NEVADA COUNTY

Nevada county taxpayers this week are receiving pink tax bills for a million dollars in local taxes, according to the figures released by Miss Elma Hecker, tax collector and treasurer. The total is $1,023,115.65, representing $612,783.29 billed to 8,004 private property owners and 119 public utility bills totaling $410,332.36.

The tax bill is a 16 percent increase over the 1949-50 tax bill of $855,799.38. Last year's taxes were: private, $513,923.08; public utility, $341,876.30.

Miss Hecker's staf has been working nights for six weeks on the task of proparing the tax bills for posting. A copy of the tax rate by districts has been enclosed with each bill.

With the regular county bills there is a sum of $7,633.98 for the special Truckee sanitary district, recently formed and enacted, whereby the assessment roll is made up in Truckee, and valuations of the county rolls with a rate of 45 cents per hundred.

All tax bills were placed in the local post office late Tuesday for all bills having addresses, and to the recorded owner as of the first Monday in March of 1950. Subsequent changes in ownership, while becoming of record in the recorder's office, are not changed by the assessor on the assessment rolls until the new roll is made up; there being only one assessment made each year. If you have acquired property since the first Monday in March the bill will have been sent to the former owner, but there is a notation on the bill, "If property is sold forward bill to the new owner."

The first installment of the county taxes became due and payable Wednesday, and will become delinquent Tuesday Dec. 5. Miss Hecker asks the tax payers to let the post office employees have a little time in order to distribute the mail; then if the bill is not received contact her office so that same can be checked.

LUMBER, OIL TRUCKS SIDESWIPE MONDAY

A lumber truck, driven by Donald Reed, Nevada City, and a Standard Oil delivery truck, operated by Carrol Rogers, Nevada City, were involved in a sideswipe collision Monday noon on the Alleghany Road, near Plum Valley House.

The accident occured on a narrow turn when one of the trucks skidded on the loose gravel and pine needles.

The drivers reported the accident to the California highway patrol office.

WARREN, CONMY LOOK TOWARD NEXT 100 YEARS

Governor and Mrs. Earl Warren featured the Sunday activities of the Gold Quartz Centennial, being welcomed at a reception at the Elks hall, Grass Valley, speaking before about a 1,000 persons at the Veterans Memorial, and touring the New Brunswick mine for a 20-minute underground inspection trip. He made a brief automobile trip through Nevada City following the day's official program.

Roy Tremoureux, president of the Grass Valley chamber of commerce, was host for the day.

The governor's party was to have been met at the south city limits by an escort of city police and sheriff's deputies, but the governor arrived early and was found very democratically and as a private citizen lunching at the Tahoe cafe.

Governor and Mrs. Warren received a welcoming at the Elks hall by James Sheridan, Grass Valley exalted ruler.

The welcoming committee included State Senator Harold B. Johnson, Roseville; Assemblyman Francis C. Lindsay, Loomis; city and county officials; chamber of commerce ofifcials of Nevada City and Grass Valley; political leaders of the county, representatives of the mining industry, and celebration officials.

William S. Mailliard, Sacramento, the governor's secretary, accompanied the state chief executive and Mrs. Warren.

In about the only reference to the political campaign at the reception Governor Warren said he had not been able to find much time from his duties of administering the state to campaign for re-election against his unemployed opponent.

Carl J. Tobiassen, supervisor of the first district, representing Nevada City, presented the governor with a gold nugget stickpin. Governor Warren accepted with the remark "This is more gold than I have seen at one time for quite a while."

Mrs. Warren was presented a bouquet of red rosebuds.

Neil Whiting new superintendent of the Idaho-Maryland Mining Corporation, escorted Governor Warren to the stage of the Veterans Memorial building for the program marking the 29th Gold Marker ceremony of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West.

Elmer Stevens, Grass Valley high school instructor, served as master of ceremonies.

Rev. Frank Buck, rector of the Emmanuel Episcopal church, of Grass Valley, offered the invocation.

Before Stevens introduced the governor he recounted the quartz gold discovery by George McKnight, an accident that brought a stable industry to the gold mining camps.

Governor Warren described the various centennial celebrations held throughout the state as a period of great inspiration and particularly for the many millions who have emigrated to this golden state.

"The state has just started to grow," the governor said, "and opportunities are unlimited for the future."

"California is destined to be the first state in population in the union in a relatively short time," he said.

The governor in looking to the future said there is more wealth and opportunity remaining in the mountain counties in the form of concrete and steel raw materials than from all the gold that was ever taken from the streams and lodes of California. Agricultural products today gross more than the gold that brought the first people to California.

The governor added that water power potential of Nevada county will bring untold wealth to the area.

In his only hint of politics in his address, the governor declared, "This state, if properly governed and administered, can be a greater state than ever before and a greater opportunity for our children."

Stevens then introduced Peter Conmy, Oakland librarian and a past grand president of the Native Sons. Conmy, a dynamic orator, centered his address on the effect of the discovery of gold in California on a United States in the throes of depression, and a Europe in revolt.

Conmy traced the origin of a

THE PAY-OFF

Tuesday brings the payoff for the 1950 electioneering—one of the mildest elections we have lived through. In fact the electioneering has been of a nature that gives us the thought of digressing from our custom of many years—and not make recommendations of candidates for the general election balloting beyond the governor's race. The change is based on an acceptable theory that the modern voter is studious enough to have ascertained fact from fiction, rumor from truth and accusation from proof in the various offices for which there are contests.

The fact we advocate Earl Warren for governor is a matter of record. And mayhap Assemblyman Francis Lindsay is right that Tuesday's gubernatorial contest has a bearing on the 1952 presidential race.

In the U. S. senatorial election we have called for—and not received—a more measured and less hysterical basis of selection between the two candidates. Helen Gahagan Douglas is an avowed New Dealer Democrat. There are many things in the New Deal government we oppose. We know Douglas is for the administration, come hell or high water, and it will get her votes and lose her votes.

Richard Nixon is a conservative Republican who spectacularly carried out a job on the unAmerican activities committee. But his campaigning has been pitched to play upon the hysteria of the moment, rather than upon the talents of the nominees to carry on the job of running an American government in trying times. Nixon, like many another, claims the New Deal is a disease but doesn't say how he plans to cure it. He deplores deficit spending and the trend to passage of social laws, but knows that he will have to vote for heavy military and domestic overhead and for social laws if elected. He is against Douglas and Communists and implies they mean the same thing. We deplore his Red-baiting stress of campaigning rather than basic issues.

The attorney general is just a matter of whether you want a Democrat or Republican in office. Brown has been heckled for being a left hander, but the hysteria of our times is accountable for much of that.

We have as said as much for Earl Warren as need be. His program of government has been neither hide bound Republican or a "me-tooism" but has retained the progressive advancement of the state. He has not been afraid to advocate social legislation where social consciousness was needed. He has not been pulled or pushed into radical attitudes to the left or to the right. He will remain in history as one of California's great governors, and it isn't likely the last chapter of that history will be written Tuesday.

Proposition one would prohibit the state and political subdivisions from imposing taxes upon personal property. Proponents of this bill state it will increase private industry—that the present personal property taxes on factories are passed on to the consumer. The last fact is true for any tax on any business. We agree with the opponents of the proposition that the measure would upset the state tax structure, and recommend a NO vote on the submitted proposition.

Proposition Two would prohibit submission to electors any constitutional amendment or law which names any individual to office. We think the proposition is a good one and should receive a YES vote. It would enable the electorate to elect individually the person to fill the office rather than rubber-stamp endorse the individual whose name appears on the initiative. The more competition prevails the better the quality of the product.

Proposition Three calls for reorganization of the "inferior" courts—municipal and justice—and provides for only one court in a district. The great array of bar associations and justice associations throughout the state that have endorsed a YES vote on this court reform bill is good enough for us. We particularly like the amendment that provides that all inferior judges be elected.

Proposition Four preserves the voting eligibility of registered voters who move from one county to another within 90 days prior to an election, by permitting such persons to vote in the former county. This is an eye opener to us—we were under the impression that voters had that right already. A YES vote is imperative for Proposition Four.

Proposition Five permits members of the legislature to hold office on boards and commissions which apportion or allocate state funds. There is no conflict here regarding powers of executive and legislative branches of state government. This amendment would clarify doubts of legality. Vote YES on Proposition Five.

Proposition Six would permit gambling in licensed establishments, and creates a five-man state commission. The day will come when people will realistically face the fact that gambling is one of three practices of humanity that cannot be stopped but Proposition Six is ill-timed and poorly prepared to have the ghost of a chance of being approved. We recommend a NO vote on Six.

Proposition Seven provides that no blind person shall be denied admission to or graduation from a chiropractic school on grounds of blindness. We recommend a YES vote. The board of chiropractic examiners are competent enough to pass on the qualifications of a license applicant. We are against laws that say you can't do such and such.

Proposition Eight repeals prohibition against increasing compensation of public official during his current term of office. Inasmuch as this amendment does not effect any public official who could possibly name his own salary we believe it is a good amendment and should be approved. Vote YES on Eight.

Proposition Nine exempts from state civil service officers and employees of district agricultural associations employed less than six months, and increases maximum employment period of temporary appointees to nine months of any consecutive 12-month period. Red tape in our governmental life has become so ponderous that six months is an insufficient time for processing applications for permanent appointments. Red tape is apparently an incurable disease and this measure is one of relief. We recommend a YES vote.

Proposition Ten requires majority approval of electors of county or city for establishment of any low-rent housing project. We have enough confidence in the people that any measure designed to hand over to their decision by election is okay by us. We recommend a YES vote.

Proposition Eleven provides method of withdrawing land from registry under said act by application to registrar of titles (county recorder). Jack Nettell is for this proposition and if anyone knows the ramifiactions of the Torrens act which this proposition amends, he does. We recommend a YES vote.

Most propositions are voted down primarily through a disinclination to study the proposition and vote NO on the theory of voting NO can do no harm. But anyway, these are our recommendations. If you are going to vote you have decided why and for whom. If you are not going to vote you can use this copy of The Nugget to wrap your garbage.

The same high taxes and inflationary prices which are figuratively breaking the backs of many businesses also have a lot of farmers on the ropes.—Redkey, Ind., Times.

This representative republic as originally organized is fast becoming a popular proletariat.

We have no quarrel with anyone who may disagree with us; for all we know maybe they are right.

We wonder why corporations make no contribution to the war effort except for cash.

Sargent's Story

Early in the spring of 1851, certain wise men of the inhabitants of Nevada, having in view the dignities and emoluments of office, and little conception of the real wants of the place, after putting their heads together, without consulting the mass of the inhabitants, besieged the Legislature, and on the 13th of March procured the passage of an act incorporating the "City of Nevada." By the city charter a magnificent array of officers were provided for the place—enough to govern a continent. The people were given over to the mercies of "one mayor, ten aldermen, one recorder, one treasurer, one assessor, one clerk, one attorney and one marshal," with provision for an indefinite number of other inferior officers. The election took place in April, the people selected out of a crowd of candidates, and the city was soon in the unsuccessful tide of experiment. The authorities ran the city heedlessly into debt. Perhaps it could not be otherwise with so many salaries to pay. A less expensive organization might have been beneficial, but this was too heavy a burden. The people in a few months petitioned the officers to resign, and the legislature of 1852 repealed the charter, after it had been accomplished exactly eleven months of existence. I. Williamson was appointed as commissioner to wind up the affairs of the city, and it appeared by his report, dated April 3rd, that there was a debt remaining at that time of $8,051.17, while the city assets were worth about $750. Pretty well for one small town in about six months of actual administration. Most of the old city debt remains unpaid to this day, the Court of Sessions failing to order a special tax to pay it off; and it is highly probable that it will remain unpaid for a long time to come. Some few of the city officers made a good thing of the matter. The recorder, for instance, was mistaken by hundreds of miners as an officer elected to record mining claims and these brought their notices to be recorded, he charging fees that would excite the admiration of a county clerk in these degenerate days. But the whole organization was a reckless and stupid experiment, unnecessary and impracticable.

An incident in the history of Nevada, in 1852, was the fire on the 7th of September. An alarm was raised at 3 o'clock in the morning, at the National Hotel, at the foot of Broad and Main streets. The fire accidently originated in the kitchen, and almost instantly the whole house was in a blaze. The inmates fled in their night clothes, and so rapidly spread the flames that it was with difficulty all escaped. The fire spread to Adams & Co.'s building, on one side, and the Deer Creek Hotel on the other, prostrating other buildings till it was stayed by the creek. Twelve buildings were consumed. An illustration of how often man mistakes what is best for him was afforded by this fire. It is altogether beyond doubt that the entire city would have been destroyed by this conflagration had not the Jenny Lind theatre and the buildings contiguous to it had been carried off by the spring freshet. At the time of the latter accident it was much felt and regretted; but no human power could have restrained the fire from crossing over to Main street, had the buildings on the creek, forming a continuous chain, not been removed. Thus partial evil often works general good.

Next week will conclude the Nevada City part of Sargent's history and this week's installment is necessarily short to keep related paragraphs together. The Grass Valley story will start the week following the conclusion of the local chapter.

NEVADA CITY NUGGET

Nevada City, California, Friday, November 3, 1950—3

PROPOSITION 1 WOULD WRECK NEVADA COUNTY SAYS PHIL SCADDEN

The average home owner in Nevada county could expect the tax bill on his home to go up about $28 contrasted with a "saving" of about $4.05 in the tax on his furniture if Proposition No. 1 is not defeated and the crisis it would create was solved by putting the burden of the lost revenues on real property, Phil

G. Scadden, assessor, declared this week.

Total property tax bill in the county for 1949-50 was levied against $5,253,070 of personal property and $18,958,860 of real property. If this tax bill had been levied only on real property, it would have meant an average tax rate increase of $1.12 to an estimated $5.17 on the real property in the county for 1949-50. Each taxing district would be affected differently, Scadden pointed out.

Proposition No. 1 proposes to exempt from taxation all personal property in California—inventories, goods in process in factories, surface oil reserves, etc., as well as furniture in homes, the association said, pointing out that furniture in homes is only a very small part of the total taxable value of personal property in California.

Throughout the state, the average assessed value of a home—for tax purposes—is estimated to be $2,500, while the average assessed value of furniture in a home—again for tax purposes—is estimated at $200, with $100 of this already exempt from taxation under the householder's exemption clause.

Personal property accounts for more than one-fifth of the local property tax base for schools, cities, counties. Proposition No. 1 proposes to wipe out this tax base—but does not even suggest an alternate source for between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000 of revenue that would be lost.

"The mandatory exemption of personal property as proposed in Proposition No. 1 will bring disaster to local governments and, in the long run, higher taxes," Scadden declared, recommending a NO vote on the measure on Tuesday.

OLIVER ZIFF ESCAPES INJURY IN CAR CRASH

Oliver Ziff, Nevada City, escaped injury Monday when his car failed to negotiate a sharp turn at Town Talk on the Grass Valley-Nevada City highway, and crashed into a telephone pole.

The impact snapped the telephone pole off near the base and severely damaged the front end of Ziff's car. Ziff was traveling toward Nevada City.

Ziff was cited by the California highway patrol officers for speeding.

FAIR DIRECTOR ASKS YES ON 9

Director Tom Mulcahy said a "Yes" vote on Proposition Nine at the general election Tuesday, would help insure passage of the measure and save the Nevada county district fair operational expenses.

The legislature, without a dissenting vote, adopted this constitutional amendment which would exempt from civil service officers and employees of district agricultural associations who are employed for less than six months in any one year.

MRS. MARTIN NAMED TO SERVICE OFFICE

Mrs. Fern T. Martin, Cedar Ridge, has been appointed assistant county veterans service officer to replace Mrs. Dorothy Shamberger, who resigned Oct. 15, preparatory to moving to Woodland. The announcement was made Saturday by John T. Trauner, county veteran service officer.

Mrs. Martin is a graduate of University of California and has had experience in counseling and interviewing veterans in San Francisco county prior to her moving to Nevada county.

Mrs. Martin is well qualified to handle the problems that confront a veteran or his dependents. Her husband, J. B. Martin, is a disabled veteran of World War I and an active member of the American Legion.

Mrs. Martin took over her new position Wednesday and according to Trauner, is capable of helping the veteran segment of the county.

Oldest maritime organization of the Pacific coast is the San Francisco Bar Pilots, who steer vessels through the Golden Gate.

FIRE REGULATIONS ARE EASED IN TAHOE FOREST

Guerdon Ellis, forest supervisor of Tahoe national forest, declared that, effective Nov. 1, special fire restrictions imposed by federal regulation, earlier in the year, are rescinded as they apply to Tahoe notional forest lands.

Ellis, quotes the regional forester, vested with authority by the secretary of agriculture, in rescinding regulations T-1, (E) & (H).

1. Campfire permits are not now required before building campfires.

2. Smoking is no longer restricted to specific areas.

Special emphasis should be given to continued need for burning permits to dispose of debris and slash as required by state law. State and federal agencies will require debris burning permits until Dec. 1.

Thoughts for a Modest Man!

The man you see in the illustration above should own a Cadillac car.

His accomplishments entitle him to it. His income is ample to justify the expenditure. And he has wanted a Cadillac for a long, long time.

But he is an extremely modest man, and he feels that if he purchased a Cadillac, some of his friends might think him ostentatious.

For him, and for all people like him, we should like to record a few simple facts.

First, let us say that we recognize modesty as a basic virtue. The man who doesn't possess it to the proper degree is a bore to his friends and a joy to his enemies.

But there is nothing immodest about owning a Cadillac. In fact, there are few more sensible purchases a man can make—if a Cadillac falls within his means.

Relatively, a Cadillac isn't even expensive. There are numerous models of several other makes of cars which cost more than the lower-priced Cadillacs.

Furthermore, the great Cadillac engine is so miserly of gasoline that a single tankful will usually suffice for a whole day's drive.

And when it comes to long life and endurance—well, few people drive far enough in a whole lifetime to invalidate this wonderful car.

So if you are entitled to a Cadillac, don't let modesty stand in your way. Modesty ceases to be a virtue when it deprives a man of his just reward.

Judge and Mrs. G. W. Gildersleeve Coffee Maker Prize Winners

Judge and Mrs. George W. Gildersleeve returned Monday from a vacation at Hotel Del Mar where they attended justice and constables convention.

One evening an amateur show was prepared and Mr. and Mrs. Gildersleeve sang a beautiful duet that they had sung over 55 years ago together called, "Dear Heart, We Are Growing Old."

Much to their surprise they were awarded the first prize for their performance and brought home a lovely automatic coffee maker as prize.

Gildersleeve preceded his song by stating that 55 years ago when he and his bride sang this song they had to dress up to look like old folks but now this wasn't necessary. Mrs. Gildersleeve's health has so greatly improved because of her trip south, that she is welcoming all her friends to her home to join her in a cup of coffee with her proudly won coffee maker.

RAY HODGE IS RE-ELECTED AS POLIO LEADER

Ray Hodge, Grass Valley, employee of the California highway patrol, was reelected president of the Nevada County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at a meeting held Tuesday evening in Grass Valley. The polio center, which had been conducted at the Veterans Memorial building for more than a year, was discontinued. There has not been a reported case of polio in Nevada county during 1950, according to Hodge.

Hodge will have the assistance of two vice-chairmen, an innovation for the chapter, with the election of Mrs. Adele Sturdevant, Nevada City, and Mrs. Julia Cox, Grass Valley.

Bob Peterson, Grass Valley, was reelected secretary and Bob Graziano, Grass Valley, was again chosen as treasurer.

A new office was established and filled—that of March of Dimes chairman and William Durbrow, Town Talk, was appointed to the post. He will select city chairmen for Grass Valley, Nevada City and Truckee for the March of Dimes drive, which will take place in January.

Sports benefit events in behalf of the March of Dimes, will be handled by William Wilson, Grass Valley, as chairman.

Executive committee members for the Nevada county chapter are: Mrs. Effie Myers, Bernice Glasson, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Wilda Steuber, William Wilson, Elmer Stevens, Gilbert Tennis and William Valdon.

The chapter closed the polio center, effective Wednesday and adopted resolutions commending Miss Barbara Newman, center therapist, for her very satisfactory services and willing cooperation during the 13 months that the center was in operation.

In that period the center handled 62 polio patients of which 42 were patients of the 1949 epidemic which swept the county. A total of 2,335 treatments were given these patients in the operation of the center. Future therapeutic treatments for those requiring additional treatments will be provided by the chapter on recommendations of attending physicians.

In 1949, the chapter expended $17,800 of chapter funds for polio treatment and care, which included hospitalization. A long standing case of one girl, has been under chapter supervision for two years. The girl was treated originally at Children's hospital, was returned to Nevada county for home care and treatments and has been rethrned to Children's hospital for orthopedic therapy.

Care of those cases, which had crippling empairment from the recent wave, will continue to be under the supervision of Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger, Nevada City, and Mrs. Dallas Fellerson, Rough and Ready, school and health nurses and assisting with the crippled children's service.

RANGE IMPROVEMENT EXPERIMENTAL PLOT

Experiments are now in progress on a 70-acre plot in the Wolf district in western Nevada county leased by the state division of forestry last spring for testing methods of brush removal and range improvement.

Ranger Don Knowlton, division of forestry, Nevada City, outlined the range improvement methods which will be studied on the plot in response to what he described as a rising interest by farmers in method of improved range produhtion.

Purpose of the experiment, Knowlton said, is to study the most affective methods of brush removal, re-vegetation and management of a typical area of grassland with a view toward arriving at a conclusion which will encourage maximum production of forage on similar areas in the state.

After securing the experimental plot a fire break was placed around the entire area to protect experiments from outside fires.

The 79-acre area was then divided into four plots. A soil analysis, biological inventory and species composition study was taken on each plot.

During the summer the brush on two of the plots was laid down with a bulldozer breaking the soil as little as posible. The remaining two plots remained untouched.

One of the plots will be seeded in 1950. The brush on another plot will be burned standing in 1951 followed by seeding and one of the plots on which brush was laid down this year will be burned and seeded in 1951.

NEVADA COUNTY BAR ASKS APPROVAL OF PROPOSITION NO. 3

The Nevada County Bar Association is asking approval of proposition three by the electorate in next Tuesday's general election, according to an announcement yesterday by Robert C. Schiffner, Nevada City attorney, and secretary of the legal body. Schiffner made the announcement following a telephonic poll of the county bar members, headed by District Attorney Vernon Stoll, the unit president. The proposition has been endorsed by the State Bar of California and an imposing array of legal and civic organizations.

The state bar organizations point out that the 768 assorted inferior courts of California have bogged into a morass of flagrant violations of the standards of good government, sound administration, and common sense. The group calls for an end to the ramshackle structure and replacement by a simple, democratic and efficient system that would be close to the people.

The bar cites lack of uniformity, overlapping of jurisdiction, duplication, causing inefficient, confused and needlessly expensive inferior courts. In many cities municipal judges can be hired and fired at the whims of appointing powers. Proposition three provides for election of all judges.

Schiffner, the local bar unit secretary, pointed out the inferior courts serve more people than all other courts put together. They enforce traffic laws, minor criminal offenses and have it in their power to check a criminal career at the start. They try small law suits and the mere size of a law suit is no measure of the quality of justice deserved by the people.

Stoll, the unit president, reminded the voter that the average citizen comes in contact with the inferior courts more often than any other. Whatever he sees there of injustice, incompetence, or inefficiency instills in him disregard for the law and all courts; whatever he sees of competent, impartial administration of justice inspires in him respect for and pride in the law and the judiciary.

Proposition Three if approved Tuesday will establish a uniform system of municipal and justice courts throughout California. There will be only two types of courts below the superior court—a municipal or a justice court.

Each county will be divided into judicial districts in a way set up by the legislature but with no city partly in two or more districts. If the district has less than 40,000 population, it will be a justice court, if more it will be a municipal court. There will be only one court in each of the more than 225 cities of California now served by two or more courts.

All judges of the new courts will be elected by the voters.

STOLL CALLS NO. 6 SORDID SCHEME FOR GAMBLING EMPIRE

District Attorney Vernon Stoll this week issued a statement condemning Proposition six — the gambling scheme—as a measure which would have limitless possibilities for big-scale graft and would be an invitation to gamblers and racketeers to come to California from all parts of the nation.

Under the guise of a pension measure, the district atorney said that Proposition No. 6, "actually is a sordid scheme to license every known form of gambling, and would create a vastly profitable gambling empire under the control of five promoters who name themselves, in the act, as gambling commissioners.

"The compelling, fundamental issue in the campaign to defeat this measure is to prohibit the establishment of a gambling syndicate—to deny a frightening opportunity for questionable interests to carve out for themselves in California a rich empire where they may operate unfettered, protected and free from all restraint—above and beyond and within the law.

Stoll said that "every thinking citizen who has studied the terms of the initative foresees that Proposition No. 6, with its loose license requirements and limitless possibilites for big-time graft, would be a push-over for the crime syndicates."

"Wholly apart from the moral issues involved, or the private conduct of individuals, the law enforcement agencies are concerned over the issue of 'legalized gambling' from a standpoint of crime prevention and suppression. We know that for the most part, criminals, gangsters and swindlers have been the proprietors of gambling establishments, and nothing in Proposition No. 6 prohibits them from moving in from all parts of the country to a new, lucrative field.

"The issue is so all-inclusive," Stoll said, "and of such a threat to the well-being of our citizens, I am urging that the people of this county give serious study and consideration to this measure. I know that after study they will agree that everyone should vote "No" on Proposition No. 6 at the general election Tuesday.

PAT DAY NAMED HEAD OF RIDGE 4-H CLUB

Pat Day was elected president of the North San Juan 4-H club at a meeting Monday evening in the clubhouse on the Rhoades ranch. William B. Brooks, Grass Valley, agricultural extension service, was the guest speaker. He was accompanied by his wife.

Other officers elected were Marian Kemp, vice- - president; Marjorie Rhoades, secretary; and Carol Addington, treasurer. Election of a reporter was deferred until the November meeting.

Brooks told of standards to be met by the club before a charter can be granted by the U. S. department of agriculture. As an important step in meeting those standards, a committee consisting of Carol Addleman, Marian Kemp, and Billy Coons was appointed to work out a plan of club activities for the year, to be presented to the members at the next meeting.

Means of earning money for the club were suggested, and it is hoped that funds may soon be in hand for installation of electric lights in the clubhouse, and other necessary expenses. Several members plan to sell books.

Lois Butz told of seeing the 1000 Senior 4-H members in uniform at a recent Senior Day activities on the Berkerley campus of the University of California. Six seniors from Nevada county attended.

Brooks told of fire prevention and farm safety project which the boys may choose as special activity.

TRINITY CHURCH RANKS SEVENTH IN OFFERING

School of Trinity Episcopal church ranked seventh in amount and 15th in size, of lenten offerings, according to a recent article in the Sacramento Missionary, which listed the Nevada City school for $91 turned into the fund, Rev. Max L. Christensen, rector, announced.

A Halloween party was given the girls and boys during the church school hour with a movie and cookies and punch being served by the teachers of the school. Next Sunday, a religious film will be shown during church school period.

Trinity Altar Guild under the direction of Mrs. Minerva Wright, will meet at 8:30 tomorrow morning.

Rev. Christensen announced the confirmation class would meet at the church Sunday, at 10:30 a. m. for final preparations for presentation of the class to Bishop Noel Porter for confirmation on Sunday, Nov. 12.

Memorial fund has been starter to honor memory of the late Rev. Walker M. Gage, former rector of Trinity Church in 1918 to 1920. The fund will be used to purchase suitable permanent altar appointment. Miss Elma Hecker is in charge of the fund.

FIRE TRAINING CLASS TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

A one-week course in fire training will be given here next week starting Monday at the fire department, city hall, according to John M. Graham, fire chief. Graham announced the classes will start at 7 p. m., and will continue for two hours.

The course will be conducted by Carl J. Kistle, Sacramento, fire training instructor of the state department of education. Kistle has conducted similar classes here previously. The course will include instruction in fire fighting, use of various equipment and salvage operations.

"Courses received in previous years have been beneficial," Chief Graham said, "and I hope that all members will attend these classes which are valuable to experienced and new members both."

CONCERT LEADERS TO MEET THIS EVENING

A meeting of the Twin Cities Concert Association has been set for this evening at 7:30 p. m., at the Bret Harte Inn, according to Lloyd Geist, president of the organization. The meeting has been specifically called to elect a successor to Geist, who is accepting a school position in Mendota.

Committee chairmen, officials and interested season ticket holders are invited to attend.

STRATEGIC WAR METALS BEING FAST DEPLETED

Expressing concern over the nation's fast depleting stockpiles of strategic war metals, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce through action of its board of directors has recommended a four-point program for encouraging renewed mining efforts in the west.

Its recommendations, based on a study made by the chamber's mining committee headed by Philip R. Bradley, Jr., are as follows:

1. That if the revenue act of 1950 is rejuvenated, section 209 (d) which provides that "abandoment of capital assets on property used in a trade or business shall be considered a sale thereof" shall be deleted by the congress.

2. That, as in World War II, for the duration of present hostilities, no excess profits tax shall be placed on production of strategic metals as listed in the excess profits tax law of 1942. Further, that because of the importance of cobalt in jet aircraft, this metal should be included.

3. That in the enactment of any excess profits tax law, there shall be a provision similar to section 75 in the 1942 act allowing for exemptions for production above normal during any one year on metals other than strategic (such as copper, lead and zinc), excess production to be taxed at the normal rate rather than excess profit rate.

4. That all expenditures incurred in exploration for or developing strategic or critical mineral deposits shall be expensed or capitalized at the option of the taxpayer.

Announcement of the chamber's recommendations came on the heels of a meeting concluded this week in Washington between government officials and Sam H. Williston, member of the chamber's mining committe and chairman of the alloy metals committee of the national minerals advisory council.

Mercury mining has declined by 95 per cent, Williston said.

Of manganese—the most important requirements for which are in the steel industry—less than ten per cent is produced in this country and stockpile reserves are not adequate for a war of any duration.

Not one pound of chrome is being produced within our border, Williston declared.

Less than one-quarter of our war-time production of antimony is left and immediate steps will have to be taken to maintain even minimum production.

Tungsten production is still far less than one-half of our war-time production and only a small proportion of our war-time requirements, Williston reported.

Cobalt—essential for high-temperature jet engines — will be even more important in World War III, he said, than in World War II. Our present cobalt supplies are largely African.

"All of these metals have been produced in quantity in the past and can again be produced in quantity, given sufficient time and sufficient encouragement," Williston said today. "But it would be the height of folly," he added, "to believe we could have immediate production of any of these metals."

Mercury, while it has "a thousand uses," is probably best known in its military applications as a catalyst for poison gas and in mercury batteries necessary in foreign "police action."

Chief cause of the decline in strategic metal production, Williston said, "has been the erroneous ideas of some of our administrative agencies which, in preferring to buy from foreign sources, have destroyed domestic sources of supply owing to the peculiar nature of an underground mine."

TWO BEARS WEIGHING 500 POUNDS KILLED

Bear hunters in the high Sierra are encountering some huge specimens and are bringing home the proof.

Robert Simpson of Tahoe, hunting with N. S. (Slim) Maddox and Ronnie Vaughn, professional guides and hunters from Truckee, shot a bear, treed by the hunters and dogs near Bear Trap above Lake Tahoe that dressed 560 pounds, Maddox reported.

Two weeks ago, Frank Borden and Elwood Buhler, hunting in Carpenter Valley, brought home a bear which they said weighed approximately five hundred pounds.

San Francisco's consolidated city - county government dates from 1856.

SCOUT JUNIOR LEADERS CONFER IN AUBURN

Leaders from Boy Scout troops in Tahoe area council gathered Saturday, Oct. 21, at Placer high school, in Auburn, for an all-day junior leader confsrence, to supplement and strengthen training given within the troops under the direction of each scoutmaster.

Participants in the training event included patrol leaders, assistant patrol leaders, senior patrol leaders, and junior assistant scoutmasters from troops located in Placer, Nevada and Sierra counties.

The conference was boy-planned and boy-directed, with Gene Antone, junior assistant scoutmaster of Troop 11, Roseville, the conference chairman.

The conference started in the morning with an opening session at 10:30, conducted by Conference Chairman Gene Antone. He introduced Ray Ewan, scout executive of the Tahoe area council, who spoke briefly on the subject "Troop Officers, Their Duties and Relationships".

The remainder of the day the junior leaders participated in discussion groups, led by boy discussion leaders, on patrol organization and program planning, patrol meetings, patrol hiking, patrol camping, patrol projects, and patrol fun and features.

In the afternoon the main feature was an adventure trail. This is a game which consists of a number of projects bringing into practice scoutcraft skills, scout spirit and patrol organization.

Scouts attending from Nevada City included: Gold Flat Troop 15; Melvin Boreham, Virgil Simpkins, Hugh March; Troop 24, Peter Hill, Will Smith, Kenneth Maloney.

Why you should VOTE YES
on No. 11

This ballot proposition corrects a defect in the law, to make it possible for an owner of land registered under the Land Title (Torrens) Act to withdraw it if he wishes to do so. There is now no way to do this.

The measure was passed unanimously by the State Legislature and signed by the Governor, in answer to the plea of many distressed property owners. Proposition 11 will save taxpayers hundreds of thousands a year, by simplifying the work of County Recorders, whose association has endorsed it. Proposition 11 also has been endorsed by scores of civic, labor, and business organizations, and so far as we know has been opposed by none.

VOTE YES on No. 11

CALIFORNIANS
FOR PROPOSITION 11

STOP THE "FIX"

Wide-open, commercial gambling would be "fixed" in California if the promoters of Proposition No. 6 put over their scheme.

The promoters name themselves as a 5-Man Gambling Commission with absolute power for six years to make their own rules, issue and revoke gambling licenses, and run their own gambling establishments.

They would be handed 6 million dollars from the State Treasury just to get started! And they could send you to jail for playing penny-ante poker at home if you didn't get a license from them first!

Under Proposition No. 6, gambling spots would be exempted from local taxes—yet local communities would be burdened by the huge cost of increased police protection against the horde of racketeers, gangsters and hoodlums that Proposition No. 6 would attract to California.

C TEAM NEARS LEAGUE TITLE IN CAGE RACE

The Nevada City high school C basketball team neared the Sierra Foothill League championship Tuesday by defeating Roseville 28-20 in the Placer county city.

This win, coupled with Yuba City's 16-6 defeat at Placer Tuesday virtually assured the local cagers of at least tying for first place in league play. Nevada City has won seven out of eight of its league games, suffering the only defeat by Yuba City.

Co-coach Warren Immel said that event by losing two of the remaining four games Nevada City can finish the season with at least a tie, depending upon the outcome of some Nevada City's opponents in other games in the league.

Bennie Nelson was high point man with 12 tallies. Joe Fisher had nine, Norman Peterson six and James Thomas one. Garcia was high for Roseville with six points.

At the half-time Nevada City led 19-6.

Big hurdle for the season will be the game with Placer at 3:30 p. m. today at Aupburn. Nevada City defeated the Placer Cees earlier this year.

C CAGERS HANG DEFEAT ON MARYSVILLE SQUAD

The Nevada City high school C team defeated Marysville 21 to 15 in a Sierra Foothill league contest played here Thursday night, last week.

Coach Warren Immel's squad led 15 to 6 at half time.

Fisher was high point man for Nevada City with eight, followed by Thomas with six. Reeves led Marysville with six points, followed by Hatamaya with five.

Conmy pointed out the earliest arrivals in the California gold fields were not miners except in an amateur fashion and when the placers petered out they returned to the cities.

Discovery of gold in quartz in the northern mines, Shasta and Sonora brought skilled miners from Wales and Cornwall who put the gold mining industry on a stable and permanent basis and gave Nevada county its greatness.

The trained hands of their descendants will continue to produce gold here, Conmy added.

California following the days of the Spaniard and Mexican decayed and the discovery of gold brought the incentive that made a great state from a wilderness.

Gold gave California prosperity second to none with accompanying cultural and scholastic development, the Oakland man declared.

Nevada county gave John Hays Hammond and Josiah Royce to the world and we can envisage the next hundred as a greater Grass Valley, Nevada City, San Francisco, Sacramento and California, Conmy concluded.

The Grass Valley Miners chorus, under the direction of Emory Ford, rendered three selections.

Grass Valley high school band presented numbers under direction of Harold George Jr.

William Tobiassen opened and closed the program with patriotic musical selections.

At close of ceremonies the official party drove to the New Brunswick mine where the governor changed into "diggers" and descended to the 2,300 foot level.

During the underground excursion, Mrs. Warren and other members of the party were escorted on a tour of the mill by Neil O'Donnell.

COACHES PESSIMISTIC FOR PLACER GAME

Coach Tom Nelson and Bob Bonner are very pessimistic today in their chances against the Placer union high school of Auburn. The games will be played in the Auburn gridiron.

Nelson's game boys take on the probable champions of the conference when they tangle with the Hillmen. Coach Ken Arnett of the Auburn school has warned he is taking no chances about this game tonight. Auburn fans expect to watch Bob Sinnock roll up yardage, according to reports from the Hilltop.

Bonner's Bees have beaten B teams that have defeated the Placer junior squad, but the youthful coach says his team is confident but not cocky.

The postponed games with the Marysville teams have been rescheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 14.

MRS. CHAS. GRISSELL KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Charles Grissell, native of Washington, and for many years a resident of Nevada City, was killed by an automobile while crossing Hyde street, San Francisco, Saturday night. Funeral services and interment were held in San Francisco this week:

Mrs. Grizzell was born Jessie MacBean, daughter of John MacBean, a well known miner of Washington Following her marriage to Grissell, they moved to Nevada City and made their home at the National hotel. Grissell, with his brother, Frank, operated the Keystone Market, one of Nevada City's oldest businesses, prior to the first World War.

Dave Richards, present owner of the market, began his apprenticeship under the Grissell brothers in the Commercial street business.

Approximately thirty years ago the Grissells sold the butcher shop and moved to Fresno where they operated a automobile agency.

Grissell died about 12 years ago and his widow moved to San Francisco. They had no children.

SHERIFF HOSKINS OPERATING NEVADA CITY ICE DELIVERY

Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins took over the operation of the Nevada City Ice Delivery Wednesday, which he purchased from E. W. Kendrick, who has operated the business since 1938. The business is one of the oldest in the county being organized in 1868 as the Nevada and Mountain Lakes Ice Company by Luke Thompson and others.

Kendrick had purchased the business from Alfred V. Sauvee, in whose family the business had been for more than half a century.

Although Hoskins assumed control of the fuel oil distributorship and ice delivery Wednesday he will not devote full time to the business until the expiration of his term as Nevada county sheriff Jan. 8.

Hoskins' son-in-law, Gino Battista, Grass Valley, is associated with him in the enterprise, and will manage the business until Hoskins leaves the county office. Hoskins said Roy Granholm, present employee of the company will remain with the firm in his capacity as truck driver.

In announcing the change of owners, Hoskins said he will extend fuel oil deliveries and other service to Grass Valley and the rural areas of the county. Kendrick had operated almost exclusively within the city.

In addition to fuel oil and ice, Hoskins also handles ice boxes, refrigerators, deep freezers, charcoal, soft drinks and beer.

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN URGES COUNTY VOTERS TO GO TO THE POLLS

"The way citizens of Nevada county vote Tuesday is just as important to us as the way Los Angeles and San Francisco counties vote," Douglas Barrett, chairman of the Nevada County Republican Central Committee declared, in urging everyone to turn out and vote at the general election next Tuesday.

The Republican party is concerned enough with the Nevada county vote to have had every one of its major candidates and the state vice-chairman visit the county to meet with the voters during the campaign which is now ending, Barrett said.

The Republican party has an outstanding slate in Governor Earl Warren, Richard Nixon for U. S. senator and Edward S. Shattuck for attorney general. I urge every eligible voter to go to the polls and to support these condidates, "he stated.

"With State Chairman T. H. DeLap, I urge every person who supports the Republican program of improving and strengthening a free America to take a personal assignment of getting at least one other person to vote next Tuesday."

VOLUNTEER WORKERS STUFF TB ENVELOPES

Nevada county Health Tuberculosis Association held a "stuffing party" last night, at the Grass Valley High School library.

Volunteer workers of local Parent-Teacher Associations assisted the association staff in filling the thousands of envelopes with letters and Christmas seals for placing in the mail this month.

Volunteers from Nevada City, Grass Valley, Union Hill and Gold Flat PTA organizations met at the library for this important work.

The sale of Christmas seals finance the mobile X-ray chest examinations and the follow up work where such is necessary.

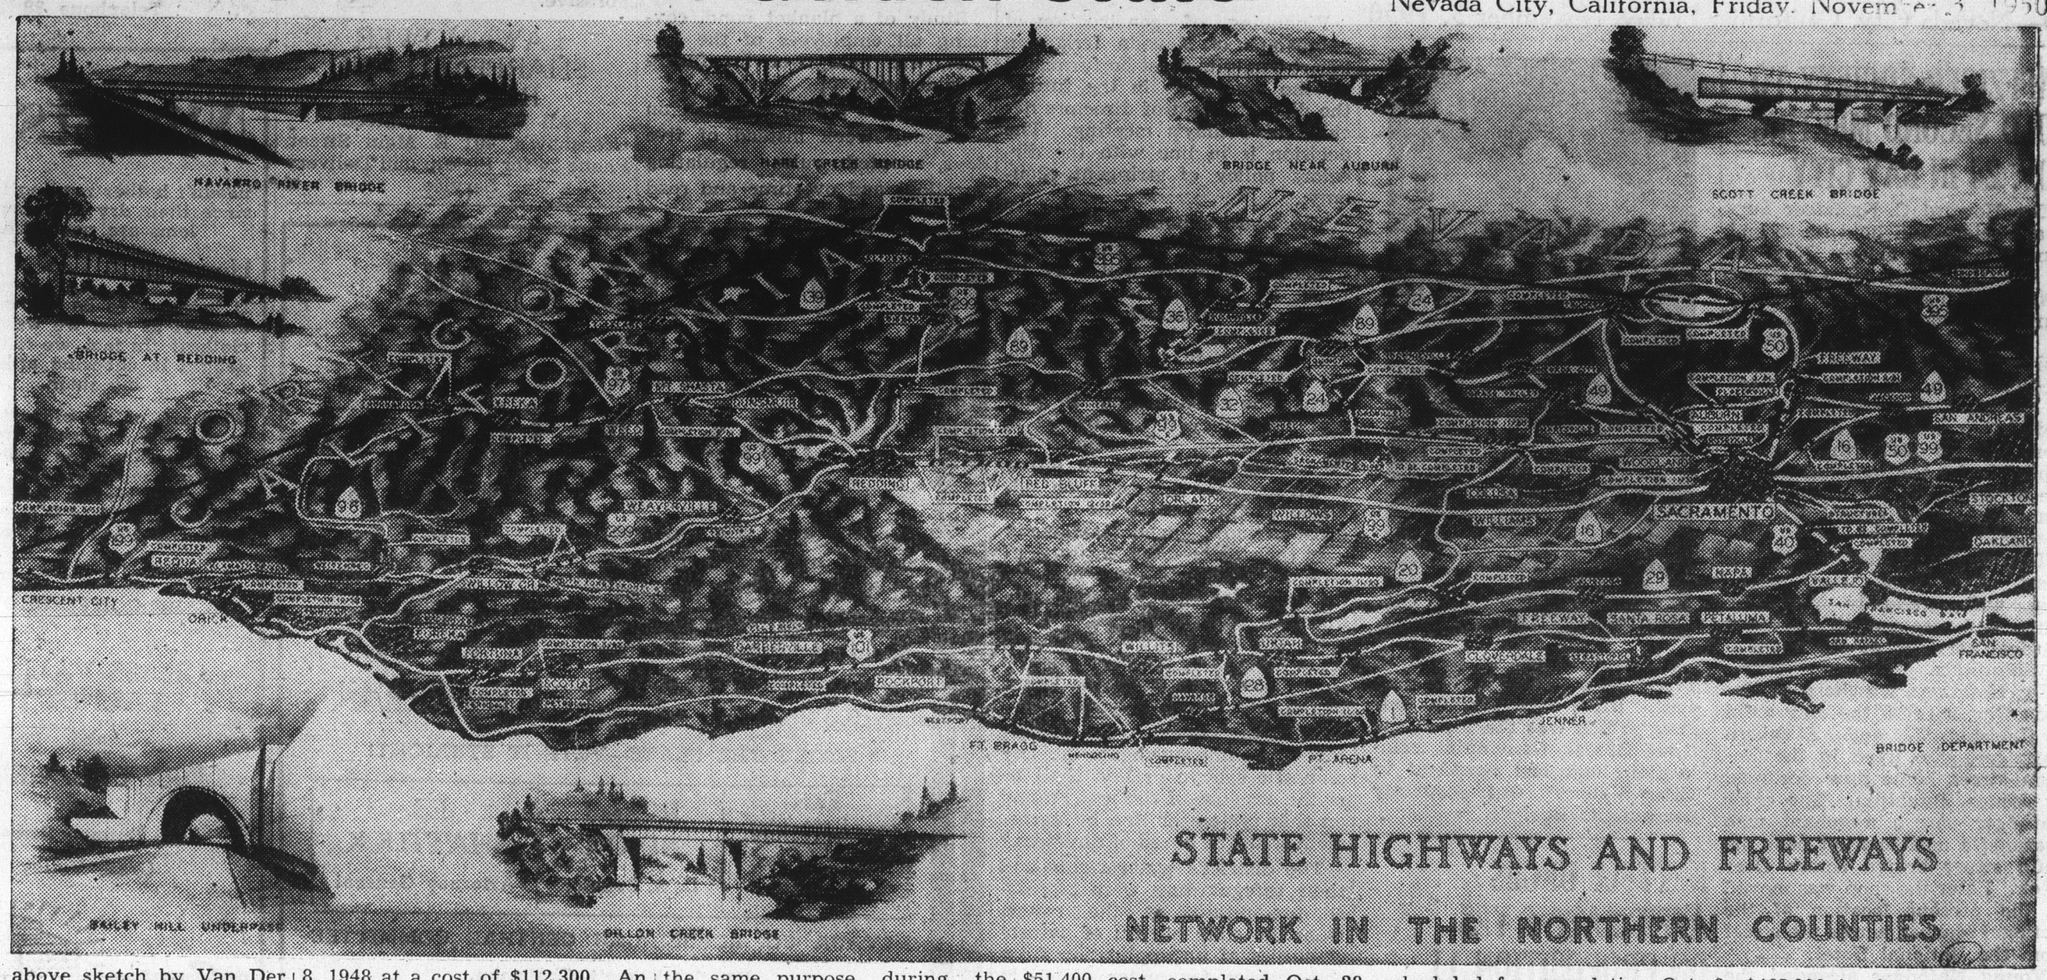
State Highways and Freeways of Northern Section of Golden State



The above sketch by Van Der Goes, state division of highways, is designed to show the progress made in development of freeways and major highways in the 27 northern counties of California since Jan. 1, 1943, when Earl Warren took office as governor. The projects represent $121,905,160 in construction.

Funds expended in Nevada county during the eight year period total $1,436,000. Budgeted for 1951-52 is $105,000.

Projects completed in the Nevada City area for the eight-year period include 1.9 miles of highway 49 northwest of the city limits, completed Oct. 1, 1947, with additional 'surfacing material placed on the roadway to restore riding qualities, at a cost of $67,100; 1.75 miles northwest of Nevada City, completed Sept. 8, 1948 at a cost of $112,300. An inadequate section of the latter project was replaced by constructing a new roadway.

Projects under construction in the Nevada City area is the 5.9 miles stretch of Washington road between highway 20 and Washington at an estimated cost of $17,000, in which federal aid secondary funds are being used. The project is scheduled to be completed Dec. 15. An old and narrow county road is being replaced by constructing a new roadway and placing surfacing material, the division of highways declared.

Nevada City has been allocated $35,000 from the state highway fund during the Warren administration which was used for improvement of city streets. Grass Valley was allocated $83,000 for the same purpose during the same period of time.

Major project for the Grass Valley area was 3.8 miles of new alignment on highway 49 from a half mile north of Rattlesnake creek to Grass Valley at a cost of $465,000. The work was completed Dec. 22, 1948. The new alignment replaced an old and narrow highway containing many curves. A narrow bridge with hazardous approaches was eliminated on the Squirrel creek crossing of highway 20 five miles west of Grass Valley, by placing a culvert and constructing new roadway. The $5,500 project was completed Oct. 4, 1949.

Other Nevada county state highway projects completed during the eight-year period are: 3.0? miles highway 40 between Donner Summit and Donner lake, $51,400 cost, completed Oct. 28, 1943; nine miles highway 40 between Truckee and state line, repairing old pavement, $118,400, completed Sept. 7, 1945; bridge repairs across Truckee river on highway 40, $15,600, completed July 29, 1948; three stretches of road repair on highway 40 in Truckee to eliminate narrow streets, $66,200, completed Dec. 9, 1949.

The 1951-52 budget for Nevada county calls for $90,000 to provide additional widening of highway 40 between Donner Summit and Donner lake. The remaining $15,000 is for purchase of rights of way.

Sierra county's share of funds expended the past eight years totals $458,000 with $300,000 allocated for the next budget. Major share of the construction is the Depot hill grade which was scheduled for completion Oct. 9, a project of 2.1 miles of new highway from a quarter mile west to 2.6 miles east of the Yuba-Sierra line of highway 49.

Other projects were a $13,000 allocation to Loyalton, and $130,000 improvement of 5.6 miles of county road north of Sierraville.

Yuba county's share of funds for the eight years at $4,352,500 is principally represented by the Feather river bridge between Marysville and Yuba City completed in 1948 at a cost of $2,994,000. Federal demands for access roads to Camp Beale during the war took further big bites into the budget. In the eastern end of the county a $200,000 project built 4.1 miles of county road in the Challenge area. A $63,000 project for 2.9 miles more of the county road is budgeted for the 1951-52 period. Yuba county has $465,000 in the new budget. Of this $75,000 will be used to repair highway 20 bridge over the Yuba river.

Placer county has $7,262,200 in funds expended during the past enght years, but has nothing in the new budget. Allocated to the cities of Auburn, $59,000; Colfax, $11,000; Lincoln, $29,000; Rocklin, $12,000; Roseville, $112,000. Major bites of the big Placer county share are accounted for by the freeway on highway 40 at Auburn and the Roseville underpass. The freeway at Auburn cost $1,158,000 and the four-lane highway at Applegate accounts for $1,973,700. The Roseville underpass was a $1,751,600 project. Of interest to Nevada county residents is the 3.6 miles of reconstruction of highway 49 to the railroad underpass completed April 30 at a cost of $610,300.

NEWS OF NEVADA CITY HIGH SCHOOL

The California Scholastic Federation will have its first cake sale during sixth period Thursday afternoon.

The Prentiss Studio started to take the Quill pictures Tuesday. This year each student's picture was taken separately. Sales for the Quill will start Monday.

Nevada county teachers attended a dinner at the Bret Harte Inn last week.

William Tobiassen, chorus instructor at the high school, received some new music Tuesday. They include "Heavenly Light," "Onward Christian Soldiers," and "The Lucky Old Sun."

New robes for the chorus were sent for this week and they are going to lok nice. They are a very pretty shade of maroon.

The Girls' League under the supervision of Miss Helen Chapman, met and decided on Friday, Dec. 8, for the first Amazon ball.

William Tobiassen is starting to arrange for the big minstrel show that is to be given at the high school. Further details will appear later.

Hal Draper showed his general science class some very interesting experiments in science last Monday.

The committee for the big Christmas dance to be held at the high school Friday, Dec. 15, met with the class representatives. The committee consists of Mrs. H. J. Ray, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Mosco Smart, Mrs. T. W. Sigourney and Mrs. Steger.

The representatives included Joanne Godfrey, Student Body President Joe Griggs, Darrell Moody, Hans Ronningen and Bill Behrbaum. Kent Walker and his High Hatters will furnish the music.

Ed A. Frantz, principal, is working with the committee.

EMIL OTT'S SON WARNS VOTERS NOT BE MISLED BY FALSE PROMISES

Emil J. N. Ott, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. N. Ott, local assayer, is campaigning heartily for the incumbent governor, Republican Earl Warren. The following article was penned for the Sacramento Advertiser:

"Never before has the citizenry of this great state of ours felt the need for proven leadership more than at the present time. We have in a few short years become the second largest state in the union in population, with its many attendant problems. Our greatest growth has occurred in the Warren administration. He has met this challenge and today the people of this great state are enjoying the benefits of his good judgment; yet there are some who would attempt to tear down his wise administrative policy with promises, promises which could lead to the ultimate breaking down of a pension program which not only has progressed during his administration but has kept abreast of a devalued dollar.

"The same people who are responsible for our devalued dollar are now making promises which could ultimately lead to the breaking down of a program which has worked, is working, and which a good governor and a wise legislature has made possible without the fear of destroying the economy of our state.

"Here are the facts on Governor Warren's stand on pensions—not not what he would LIKE to do what he promises for the future, about them, but what he has ALREADY ACCOMPOLISHED.

"At the present time, 268,000 aged persons are the recipients of pensions in this state. A total of 83,000 of them own their own homes.

"Earl Warren was working for old age pensions long before some of the so-called "friends of the aged" ever went into the business of "promoting" their interests. During Governor Warren's administration, the payment of pensions by the state has increased steadily from $40 to $50 in 1943; to $55 in 1946; to $60 in 1947; to $65 in 1948; to $75 in 1949.

"In the early 1920's when the Fraternal Order of Eagles first proposed an old age pension system for California, Earl Warren came out strongly in favor of it. He has repeatedly said: "I am positively and absolutely in favor of old age pensions, and I want them to be just as liberal as our state can afford to make them. We have never, during my administration, increased our pensions without knowing that we could foot the bill in dollars."

"Don't be misled by false prophets and promises, but help continue a sound and progressive program by continuing in office a good Governor, Earl Warren."

DEEBLE WILL SCREEN APPLICANT LOYALTY

All applications by persons seeking county employment will be reviewed by Ralph E. Deeble, county clerk and auditor, before applicants are accepted for employment by department heads.

This policy was announced Wednesday morning by the board of supervisors which appointed Deeble to the prospective employee screening post in compliance with provisions of the salary ordinance adopted by the board at an adjourned meeting last week.

Prior to the adopting of the salary ordinance department heads separately hired deputies and employees. Under the new policy all hiring will be coordinated under one official who will review the aplications.

Defeat the Tax Shift Scheme!

Proposition No. 1 would remove all personal property from taxation in California. The revenue loss (some 200 million dollars a year) would have to be made up from other tax sources—most likely from sharply increased taxes on small property owners, increased sales taxes, or both!

The bulk of personal property taxes is paid by a special class of business concerns who own little or no real estate, but have large investments in inventories, parts and equipment.

Proposition No. 1 is an attempt on the part of a few to shift their rightful share of the cost of government to the general public.

Don't pay somebody else's taxes!

NAFFZIGER SOCIETY TO HOLD SECOND MEETING NOV. 24 IN BAY CITY

The Howard C. Naffziger Surgical Society will hold its second annual meeting Friday, Nov. 24, at the University of California hospital, San Francisco. This organization was founded in 1949 by former resident surgeons of University of California school of Medicine in honor of Dr. Howard C. Naffziger, professor of surgery and chairman of the department from 1929 to 1947, who was responsible for the inauguration of the present resident training program for general surgeons at the hospital.

The program calls for five full years of training after internship, with gradually increasing duties and responsibilities on the surgical services at the university hospitals.

Dr. Naffziger, was born in Nevada City in 1884, the only child of Christian J. and Elizabeth Naffziger, who lived in the Nevada street home now occupied by James Hutchison. The elder Naffziger was a merchant who operated a meat market near the Main street bridge across Deer creek. Later the shop was moved to the present location of the National Market, across the street from the National Hotel.

Young Naffziger attended the Washington elementary school and was a member of the 1901 graduation class of Nevada City high school. His father died while he was in school here and his mother, who died this year in San Francisco, and he moved to the bay area.

Dr. Naffziger took his undergraduate and medical training at the University of California, receiving his M. D. in 1909. He received postgraduate training at John Hopkins Medical School and returned to the University of California and was appointed to the faculty of the school of medicine.

He was married to Miss Louise McNear, Petaluma, and they have four daughters. Dr. and Mrs. Naffziger make their home in San Francisco.

Dr. Naffziger has come to be well known as one of the leading neurological surgeons in the country, and rose to the rank of colonel in the medical department of the U. S. Army in World War I. In 1917 he organized the Department of Neurological Surgery of which he is chairman. Although particularly noted for his contributions in this specialty, he has been influential in the maintenance of progressively high standards in the broader fields of surgery.

An active member of leading national and international surgical societies, Dr. Naffziger has served as president of various organizations and is on the editorial boards of the leading surgical journals.

Members of the society which will meet the latter part of this month consist of the 30 graduates of the resident training system. The society fosters and cultivates ideas and improvements in the field of surgery. Operative clinics and presentation of scientific papers during the day will be followed by a banquet in the evening.

NETTELL URGES AFFIRMATIVE YES ON PROPOSITION 11

County Recorder John E. Nettell urges passage of Proposition No. 11 on the state ballott at the election Tuesday. Proposition 11 seeks to amend the Torrens land registration Act of 1914, to permit land owners, if they so choose to remove their land from such registration.

In asking for a "Yes" vote, the recorder points out that Proposition 11 is backed by the County Recorders Association of California, of which he is a member, and received a unanimous vote of both houses of the state legislature earlier this year, as well as the signature of the governor.

"The purpose of Proposition No. 11 is simply to afford the same rights to the few property owners of the state now forced to continue their land transactions under a law passed in 1914, as is enjoyed by the 99.9 percent of all other land owners in the state," points out the recorder. "It merely makes it possible for the owner of land now registered under the old Torrens act to choose whether their land shall remain under it, or be under the conventional recording system of the state."

CHIEF JACKSON CALLS HALLOWEEN "MILDEST"

Police Chief J. J. Jackson reported Halloween antics in Nevada City were confined to the traditional 'trick and treat' and marking store windows in the business district.

He said the department received no report of vandalism and that although two extra policemen were patrolling the city no arrests were made.

Jackson described Tuesday night as one of the mildest Halloweens in recent years.

San Francisco was first known as "El Paraje de Yerba Buena"—the place of good herbs.

NID EXTENSION MUST BE FINANCED BY THE APPLICANTS IN FUTURE

Financing of construction of extensions of Nevada Irrigation istrict conduits must be furnished by the applicants in the future, the district board of directors decided at Friday's meeting. The decision is in line with the directors policy of stringent economy..

The board announced:

"Extension of existing district irrigation conduits will only be made by the dihtrict when arrangements satisfactory to the board are made by the landowners involved, to guarantee a use of water therefrom which will justify the construction. In general, the policy if the district in this connection is to require the landowners benefitted to either construct the extension or advance to the district the cost of construction. Each landowner may then be credited on the construction cost advanced by him, not to exceed fifty percent of the district's charge for water used from the extension on his lands for a designated number of years to be agreed upon by the board at the time of construction.

"It is the policy of this district that any improvements in any domestic system or line shall be at the expense of the water users on that system or line by agreement with the board of directors."

The district's water rights and their safeguarding were discussed, precipitated by the return from the state bureau of natural resources of an application from the district for water rights in Jordon creek. The board withdrew the application to submit a new application after this water course has been studied and plans made up.

Last year the district acquired the Omega water rights. The board will tour the ditch today in place of a regular meeting.

Study of a blanket bond, covering all employees of the district, was held over for future consideration.

The board placed shopmen on a six-day week instead of five days, adopted rules regulating vacations and overtime and read into the minutes a pledge of cooperation and support from the multiple listing service.

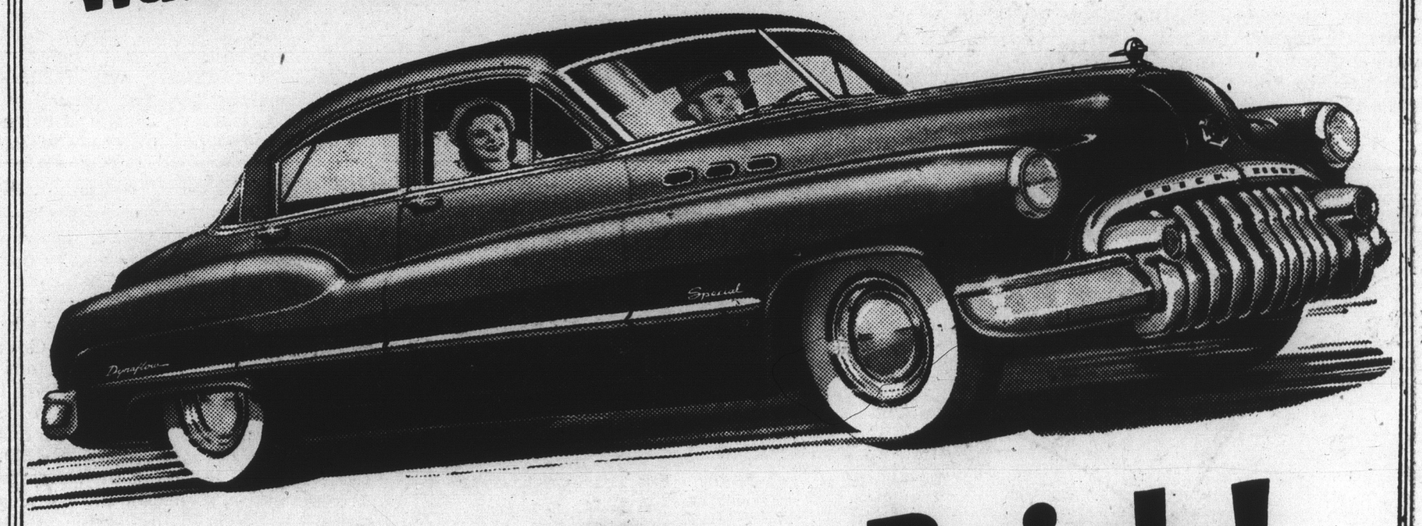
Want a ride that's "out of this world"?

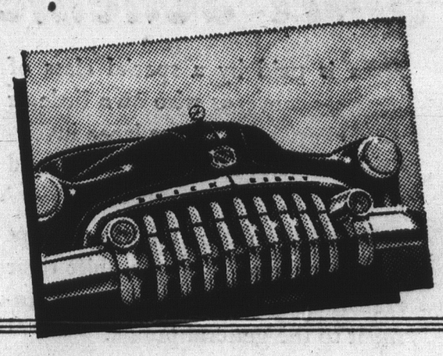


Better Buy Buick!

WANT to be free from that nervous tensing up for a jolt every time a rough spot looms in the road ahead?

Want to enjoy the relaxing feel of a sure-footed car beneath you, that stays level even when the road doesn't?

Well, sir, ease into a Buick and see how such matters are cared for.



See what a wonderful difference in level buoyancy coil springs can make when you have them on all four wheels, not just the front ones.

Note what firm and solid steadiness is yours when a full-length torque-tube drive is your keel—how smoothly you stay on course when the rear wheels can't help but run true.

See what big, low-pressure tires and Buick's wide rims can do to pillow your course without jounce or sway.

In other words, sample this two-ton beauty for over-all stance and balance—and the cradling comfort of its roomy interiors.

And while you're at it, get the very special thrill of its mighty Fireball power plant, plus the free-as-a-bird-in-flight bliss of its Dynaflow Drive.*

It's an experience that you owe yourself—and it's yours for the asking. The thing to do is get in touch with your Buick dealer—and discover the ride that only Buick owners know.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT—This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.
